In which case Jane Hollister, mentioned in the monumental inscription as daughter of Mary and Edward Hollister, would be niece to himself and wife Catharine Seede. Edward and Mary Hollister had a daughter Catharine Hollister, which therefore appears to be a family name. Jane Hollister, "ye Daughter of Edward Hollister by Mary his wife was Baptized (at Bitton) February ye 11, 1704." Died 23rd day of October 1716. Vide monumental inscription in Bitton Church. HAMILTON PEDIGREE.

Who were the Hamiltons mentioned below, and when did they live?

FROM AN OLD BIBLE.

"Hugh Kennedy was my brouther in La I Alex. Dean was married to his sister Grizel Kennedy in her father's house in Donadiee by the Riverend M^r Henry Hamilton."—ALEXANDER DEAN.

"August the third 3^d 1755. Kinnedy Deane and David Dean was Barien in Donadiee, Kinnedy was Baptized by the Reverend Orr Davie by the Reverend Alex^r Hamilton in my own Hous."

The date Aug. 3^d 1755 was not the date of the marriage, but the day the writing was put in the old Bible still in the possession of a member of our family; this is certain as David Deane was married in May 1755 (Record Office, Dublin). The marriage must have been about 1720, at which time Alex^r Laing, the rector of Donaghadee, was living, but from 1721 to 1730, when the advowson was disputed, there is an hiatus in the record of the Rectors' names. Rev. Hugh Hamilton was minister at Girvan, Ayr, about this time; born 1707, died 1788.

Grizel Kinnedy must have been of the Benane family of the name in Ayrshire, for the third son of Alex. Deane and Grizel Kinnedy was Hugh Primrose Deane, a Landscape Painter of some repute (see Memoirs, Redgrave's 'Dictionary Artists, English School). "Hew Primrose" was a favourite name of the Bennane Kennedies (see Patterson's 'Ayrshire—Carrick').

The following Extracts are taken from the Schedule of Deeds and Papers, relating to Cully Hall Estate, in the parish of Bitton, Gloucestershire, by the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe.

August 26, 1755. Indentures of lease and re-lease made between Thomas Seede and William Seede.

June 28, 1781. Will of Mr William Seede, of the parish of Bitton, in the County of Gloucester, Gentleman.

Inscription copied from the Family Tombstone in St. Nicholas' Church, Bristol, viz., "Also Sarah, second Wife of William Seede, Daughter of Edward Russ of Castle Cary, in the County of Somerset, Gent., ob. 25 Nov. 1767, æt. 55."

Copy from the Register of Burials of St. Nicholas' Church, Bristol. 29 November, 1779. "William Seede, buried."

The following information has been kindly supplied by the Rev. R. H. Clutterbuck, of Knights Enham Rectory, Andover, Hampshire.

"The Rev. Jeremiah Seed had been rector of Ridge, co. Herts, 9th April, 1736, but resigned that Benefice in 1738. (See Cussan's 'History of Herts.') I fancy he succeeded a Rev. S. Reed, who was buried 22nd April, 1741, as Rector of Enham ; there is no entry in the Register of Mr. Seed's burial, nor of his daughter's baptism, and I am very doubtful whether Seed is buried here at all. The Coat of Arms at the bottom of the Monument is painted on the Stone, and if it has been blazoned in colours, they have faded out, but I fancy they were tricked in with grey, as they are now. The coat, Arg. 3 Battering Rams ppr., is on a hatchment in the Church as impaled by one of the Dewars, and I suspect Seed the Rector and Dewar the then Squire married Sisters ; whose daughters I want very much to know. I know of but one tradition of Seed. There is a walk at the top of the Rectory garden which goes by the name of Seed's Walk."

"On a mural Monument on the North Side of the Chancel of Knights Enham Church :—In memory of the Rev. Jeremiah Seed, M.A., late Rector of this Church, who departed this life Dec. ye 10 A.D. 1747, aged 47.

"God in his Thoughts Truth in words unfeign'd,
Kindness, and Justice in each action reigned,
Religon's lovely Form in every View,
He justly trac'd, and was the Form he drew ;
In search of his own good his generous mind,
Persu'd the general Good of Human Kind.
Wept by the WORLD, think when the tears can end
Which flow for BROTHER, HUSBAND,
FATHER, FRIEND.
M.V.P.
Memento Mori."

Extract from the Register of Knights Enham, co. Southampton, fo. 59 :—"The small black Tablet to Jeremiah Seed, and the small white one to Miss Jane Seed, having been lying loose on the Church floor were placed in the North wall of the Chancel by the Revd Henry Gough, M.A., who was Rector in 1855-56.

"Fo. 5, 1741. Revd Samuel Reed, Rector of Enham, buried April 22.

"1752. Miss Jane Seed, buried July 9."

The inscriptions on the small lozenge-shaped tablets mentioned above (which were no doubt at one time in the pavement over the graves) are as follows : "The Rev. Jeremiah Seed, M.A. 1747.—H.S.E. Miss Jane Seed, died July ye 6, 1752, aged 9 years."

The Posthumous Works of Jeremiah Seed, M.A., late Rector of Enham, in Hampshire, and Fellow of Queen's College, Oxford, consisting of Sermons, Letters, Essays, etc., were published from the Author's original Manuscripts by Joseph Hall, M.A., Fellow of Queen's College, Oxford ; printed for M. Seed, 1750, the first volume of which contains a Portrait of Jeremiah Seed, with his Coat of Arms underneath. Jeremiah Seed entered Queen's College, Oxford, 16 October, 1716, took degree of B.A. 13 February 1721, M.A. 10 July 1725. Made Fellow of Queen's College, Oxford 17 April 1732. He was also Rector of Church Oakley.

The Corporation of ye City of New Sarum.

Nov. ye 15, 1753. The Common Council: Hen. Wyndham (36*), Esqr.

Notes.

(1) These branches of the Family adopted the more ancient spelling of the name with the "y" to distinguish their members from those of the Norfolk branch, who use the "i."

(1*) He appears to have gone from Salisbury with Thos (afterwards Ld.) W., 16 Nov. 1724, on the latter's appointment of 19 Oct. prieviously as L.C.J. of Com. Pleas of Ireland, and to have resided with his Lordship at Dublin until his retirement from the Chancellorship, which he subsequently filled, and consequent return to England in Sep. 1739, acting as his Trainbearer during the latter period. He mar. Eliz. Johnson at St. George's, Hanover Sq., co. Middx., 23 Feb. 1743, being then described as "of New Sarum" (=Salisbury); and was afterwards one of the Ex'ors of the Will of Ld W., who left him two several sums of £500 and his "Chancellor's Velvet Gown trimm'd with Gold." It is worthy of remark that the journey from Salisbury to Dublin, in 1724, occupied no less than twenty-two days. But whether it was by water (from Southampton), or how otherwise, we are not informed.

(2) Joan, da. Sir Wadham and Barbara W. of Norrington, and relict Thos Harris of the Close, Salisbury, and of Mid. Temple, Lond.; b. 23 Aug. 1651; bu. in Cathed. Ch. of Salisbury nr her husband. Will dat. 26 June 1730, cods. 24 Jan. 1731-2. Adm'on 5 Mch. 1733-4 (P.C.C. Ockham, 62). The prefix of "Madam" as a title of respect, and which was applied to gentlewomen, and to untitled ladies of wealth and good social position, during a portion of the reign of Chas. II., and the whole of that of his five successors, was doubtless of French origin, and probably owed its introduction into this country to Louise de Querouelle, who, as Maid of Honour, came over with the King's sister, the Princess Henrietta, Duchess of Orleans, in 1670, and was afterwards one of that monarch's mistresses, and by him created Duchess of Portsmouth. But although the writer has met with its use in MSS. of the above date, he remembers no instance of its occurrence prior to 1690 in the large number of Parish Registers examined by him in various parts of England. With the accession of Geo. III. (if not, in some measure, as early as 1745), the old English title of "Mistress" ("Mris")—formerly applied indiscriminately to both married and unmarried ladies of quality, but, as regards the latter, then first used in its abbreviated form of "Miss" ("Mis")—appears to have again come into fashion: that of "Madam" being still, however, retained during their lifetime by many of its old possessors: so that we meet with its use here even so late as the early part of the present century, when our relations with the French under the first Napoleon probably tended to bury it in oblivion.

[The statement of John Pryme's case to be presented to the Consistory Court of Norwich A.D. 1550, from a contemporary MS. in possession of the Rev. T. S. Hill, Rector of Thorington.

The declaracion of the vse of A Certayne fearme now master toppesfelds of fressyngfeld the whiche fearme is in the hamlett of melles belonginge to the towne of wenhaston in the whiche ffearme nowe dwyllethe John pryme how and after what maner the sayd ffearme hathe bene occupied and vsed and by whome and after what maner for the Space and tearme of an hundred yeares and vpward and howe & after what maner y^e^ teythes of the same ffearme hathe bene vsed and payed and to whome all y^e^ tearme aforesayd as here followythe.

Memorand'n. In Anno d'ni m^ll^ cccc lxv Anno quinto Edwardi Quarti &c. Thene ded John Cowper dwell in the hamlett of melles and dyvers yeares before that tyme. And also dyvers years Sence that tyme. In A Certayne tenement and ffearme beinge at y^e^ sayd Johns fyrste Enteringe but newlye Edified and bylded and thene not ffinisshed the whiche he takene vpe by lease of the Master of mettyngham Colledge the whiche ffearme is nowe master Toppesfelds whereas nowe John pryme dwellethe. And at the tyme of the aforesayd John Cowpers ffyrste enteringe in to the sayd fearme and dyvers yers after vntyll the yeare of owr lorde god aforesayd The Chapell of melles was than vsed as A parrysshe Churche and was the parryshe Churche for the sayd John Cowper and for all the other Indwellers w^t^ in all the hole hamlett of Melles. And than the sayd John Cowper ded paye all his tythes and all other Ecclesiasticall Ryttes & dutyes vnto the Chapell of melles to the vse of mettyngh'm Colledge. As all the other Indwellers w^t^ in melles hamlett thane ded. And so they allwayes Continued vntyll abought the above sayd yeare of owr god A. m^ll^ cccc lxv thene the sayd Chapell begane to Cease frome the vse of a parrysshe Churche & hade no lenger vsiallie as it was afore accustomed devine service in y^e^ same except on the Evene & daye of Seynt Margarete y^e^ which was there the Churche hollye daye for the Chapell helde of Seinte Margarete. Soo that thene the sayd John Cowper by this means fell frome his parryshe Churche and went at large whereas he would but moste com'onlye he & all his went to haulsworth Churche. And payed his tythes style y^t^ not wyth stondynge to Mettyngham Colledge As afore is sayd &c. And so he continued Vntyll Certayne yeares a litle before his deathe thene he was assigned by the order of the Master of Mettyngham Colledge ffor to goo to Bramfeld Churche for a tyme vntyll further order myghte be taken Conserninge the same &c. There to kepe his fower offering dayes and to Receyue all Sacramentes and Sacramentalles. that done he to goo to haulsworthe or elles where as he ded before any thynge before not wythstondynge. And for that mynistrac'on of the Sacraments to the sayd John Cowper & to his howshold the sayd master of Mettyngham Colledge assigned the sayd John Cowper for to paye & gyve vnto the vicar of Bramfeld v^s^ the whiche he alowed agayne to the sayd John Cowper owt of his hole tythes aforesayd. And thus it Continued dueringe the lyffe of the sayd John Cowper. the whiche was the ffyrste begynni'ge of anythinge payenge for anythinge or for any kynde of minestrac'on vnto Bramfeld owt of anye p'cell of y^e^ hamlett of melles &c. And after the decease of the sayd John Cowper Roberd Cowper sonne of the sayd John Cowper occupied the sayd fearme and payed the sayd v^s^ vnto Bramfeld as is aforesayd vntill abought the begynninge of maye In the nyn'te yeare of the Reigne of owr late Soveraigne lorde Kynge henrie the Seventhe. thene ded the sayd Roberd Cowper beye A Certaine tenement Called howards wyth Certayne londs to the same belonging lyeinge in Bramfeld off one Wylly'm Veysy of the same towne the whiche tenemente was thene greatelye decayed & out of Rep'racions the whiche he shortely after Repared & mended &c. And thene he Removed owt of his ffearme in Melles and dwelte in the sayd tenement Called howards in Bramfeld. And although he dwelte in Bramfeld yet he occupied stell in his owne hands two p'celles of lond Called Over Seymars and neyther Seymars wythe Certayne other parcelles of londe lyenge nexte vnto Bramfeld belongenge to the aforesayd ffearme in Melles the whiche parcelles of londs the sayd Roberd Cowper hade in his occupyinge vntyll the daye of his deathe. ffor as soone as the sayd Roberd Cowper was Removed out of his fearme in melles Into bramfeld thane came thereinto the sayd fearme one named hose whoo dweld in the sayd fearme & occupied the howsses w^t^ a Certayne of the londes for the space & terme of two yeares And at the two yeres Ende the sayd hose wente owt of the sayd fearme. And thane Came there in A woman who was Called Mother Gyle who dwelte in the sayd fearme v yeares. And at the v yeares ende wente owt of the sayd fearme the same Mother Gyele. And thene came there in one John Wetynge who dwelte there ffower yeares and At the iiij^or^ yeares Ende went owt of the sayd fearme y^e^ sayd John Wetinge. All these aforesayd ffearmours ware tenanntes vnto the aforesayd Roberd Cowper and dwelte in the sayd fearme in Melles. and the sayd Roberd Cowper dwelte in his owne tenement in bramfeld and thus he and theye occupied the sayd fearme in melles and his owne tenement in bramfeld to gether so that the one occupienge Could not be Severalled frome the other deueringe the space and tearme of Aleveney eares as is aforesayd. Soo that thene the sayd Roberd Cowper beinge a townes man in bramfeld and thene bearinge his good wyll towards the preferment & mayntenance of bramfeld and thene he so occupienge his owne tenement in bramfeld and the greatteste parte of the londs belonginge to the sayd fearme in mells to gether soo y^t^ the one was not Severalled frome the other. whereby thene the sayd Roberd Cowper Cawssed the sayd Sum'e of v^s^ to be augmented and Rayssed to a more Sum'e. or to Sum'e other greater Com'odite and profyght to the vicarage and benefice of bramfeld &c. The whiche was the ffyrste begyninge & the onlye Cause that hathe brought the hamlett of Melles in suche State & Case as it stondythe in at this daye for the payment of tythes. As thene all this was easye I nowe for to be donne by the sayd Roberd Cowper as playnly aperethe aforesayd &c. And when the sayd Roberd Cowper and his fearmors hade occupyed the sayd fearme in melles to gether for the space & tearme of xj yeares as is aforesayd thene In the yeare of owr lorde god a. m^ll^ ccccc and vi and in the xj yeare of the Reigne of Kynge henrie the Sevent and vpon Corpus Christie Evene died the aforesayd Roberd Cowper at his tenement Called howards in Bramfeld and vpon Candelmes daye nexte followynge after that dyed margaret Cowper his wyffe. and y^e^ aforesayd Roberd Cowper before he dyed made his laste wyll & testament and he ordyned & made his executors to the same laste Wyll & testament Wyll'm Rabett and thomas Reve of bramfeld and whereas the aforesayd Roberd Cowpars lease of the sayd fearme in Melles was not expyred by v yeares the aforesayd Wylly'm Rabett and thomas Reve his executors after the decease of Margaret Cowper his wyffe Sould the same lease vnto Symund toppesfeld of hawlsworthe gent the whiche ffearme the aforesayd Symund toppesfeld dede kepe & occupie in his owne hands & to his owne vse dueringe the tearme & space of the aforesayd v yeares. dueringe all the tyme of y^e^ same v yeares the sayd Symund toppesfeld came not at bramfeld Churche nor non of his servants but toke haulsworthe Churche for his parrysshe Churche where he dwylt. nor he payed no maner of tythes nor non other thynge in the name or for anye tythe or tythes vnto Bramfeld. But he was at a Compossicion & staye wyth the master of mettyngham Colledge (the whiche M^r^ the sayd Symund Served) And he annssuered hyme for all the tythes of the sayd fearme In suche Case & maner as a parte of The hamlett of Melles thene dede at that daye the w^che^ thynge is to be proved true by the wytnes of dyvers ould ancient men that are nowe lyvinge whereof sum'e of them ware Servants & dwelt w^t^ the sayd Symunde Toppesfeld whan he occupied the sayd ffearme the whiche dede se and knowe the same so vsed as is aforesayd. But ere the aforesayd ffyve yeares ware all expyred & ended the sayd Symund toppesfeld Renewed his lease of y^e^ master of mettyngham for the tearme of certayn more yeares as manyfestly it is knowne. and whane the aforesayd v yeares of the oulde lease ware ended than the Sayd Symund Toppesfeld gave vpe the occupienge of the sayd ffearme. And thene he dede lease it vnto John Wetynge who dwelte in the same ffearme v yeares & vnward on the Sexte yeare In the whiche Sext yeare the aforesayd John wetynge dyed abought the Sexte daye of december In the yeare off owr lorde god m^ll^ ccccc and xvi^te^ the whiche John wetynge before he dyed made his laste wyll & testament and he ordeyned & made his executors to the same laste wyll & testament water norton and Wylly'm Saundersonne of halsworthe and Syr Roberd Harrison the vicar of bramfeld his Supervisser the whiche executors ware fayne to occupie the aforesayd fearme frome the daye of the deathe of the sayd John wetynge vnto the nexte feaste of Seynt Mychaell tharchanngell next ffollowynge the whiche made vpe Sexe yeres evene In the whiche tyme the vicar of bramfeld beinge Supervisser to the sayd John wetynge and one of them occupienge the sayd fearme in there occupienge thene myghte helpe hym Selfe to tythes or otherwyse as he thought good and to make his booke for his moste vantage at large thoughe it ware not true &c. as it so playnlye aperethe to all men &c. And at the yeres ende the sayd executors gave vpe the sayd ffearme that is to saye at the ffeaste of Seynt Mychaell tharchanngell. At the whiche ffeaste Came in to the aforesayd fearme one John pecke who dwelte in the same ffearme viij^te^ yeares. but whene the sayd John pecke hade dwelte in the sayd fearme in melles abought one yere thene the vicar of bramfeld demanded and Requered of the sayd John pecke y^t^ he should agreve & paye hym suche dutye and Sum'e of monye as was due to be payed vnto hym for all the tyme he hade occupied his ffearme before accordynge as John wetynge hade done before hym And so the sayd John pecke & the vicar fell to lovinge & byddynge tyll at the laste the sayd John pecke ded byde the vicar of bramfeld x^s^ a yeare but the vicar wold not so agreve w^t^ hym where vppon Immidiatly after the sayd vicar Sewed the sayd John pecke in the Chappettell Courte for all the tythes of the same fearme dueringe the tyme of the whiche sev'te the master of mettynghams Courte was holden at bramfeld at y^e^ whiche Courte was the master hym Selfe. vnto the whiche Courte Came John pecke and there declared vnto the master of mettyngh'm all the matter afore expressed & declared. howe he had bedden the vicar of bramfeld for to be quyet for all his occupienge x^s^ a yeare And that he hade for Sacken y^t^. And howe he hade hym in seute for the same In the Chappettle Courte. and whane the master hade harde all the matter as is aforesayd he Inmidiatlye sente for the vicar of bramfeld and sayd vnto hym that yf he wold not becontente w^t^ the x^s^ a yeare that John pecke hade bedden hym that thene he should haue nothynge doo the beste he could. and as for the x^s^ a yere that John pecke hathe bedden yowe ye shall nat Receyue yt for no tythes but for the mynistracion vnto hym & to his houshold. and sayd further that he should haue no tythes there nor nothyng in y^e^ name of or for tythes for the sayd John pecke dwell not in bramfeld but in the hamlett of Melles And sayd y^t^ the sayd fearmors y^t^ had dwelte in the sayd fearme ware assigned by the Masters of Mettyngham Colledge for to goo to bramfeld Churche & not other wyse wherefore yf he wold not becontented w^t^ the x^s^ that John pecke had bodden hym then he would assigne & apoynte hym to sum'e other place where he thought good. for he sayd y^t^ all the tythes that ware due to be payed owt of the sayd ffearme & in all the Ressedue of the hamlett of melles ware all due to be payed vnto the Chapell of Melles as longe as it was a parrysshe Churche. And y^t^ it was no longer a parryshe Church then all the sayd tythes ware all his & ought to be payed vnto mettyngham Colledge. And moreover the sayd master of mettyngham sayd that y^e^ sayd John pecke shall be Countable for his tythes vnto mettyngham Colledge &c. Therefore yf ye Refues the x^s^ a yeare for yowr ministracion thene ye gett nothynge do the beste ye Canne and sayd that he wolde sawe the sayd John pecke harmeles and that he would annsuer the sayd Seute. for it was vpe his good wyll whether he wold gyve hym anythynge at all yee or no &c. And whene the vicar of Bramfeld had hard the master of mettyngham declared all his mynde and was sore affended wyth hym as is aforesayd Thene the vicar dyssyered the sayd Master for be good master vnto hym and sayd that he wold Sesse his sewte & dyscharge the sayd John pecke and that he wold take the aforesayd x^s^ a yeare for y^e^ ministracion and y^t^ therewythe he was Contented so y^t^ he myght haue it w^t^ his good wyll and faver the whiche the master of mettyngham vnto hym Graunted &c. And thuse was the Compossicion and Ende taken and made by great Intreatinge of the sayd master by dyvers parsons at the same Courte thene beinge betwyne John pecke of Melles and Syr Roberd Harryson vicar of bramfeld. Soo that frome thense forthe the sayd John pecke payed yearely for the ministracion vnto hym and his howshold x^s^ a yeare vnto the sayd vicar of bramfeld. the whiche was for the space & tearme of viij^te^ yeares as is aforesayd &c. And at the Ende & tearme of the sayd Eyghte yeares the sayd John pecke Removed and wente owt of the sayd ffearme. and thene Came there into the sayd ffearme John pryme who hathe dwelte In the sayd ffearme xxx^{ti} yeares and vpwarde the whiche John pryme dwell there nowe at this present daye. and after that y^{e} sayd John pryme hade dwelte in the aforesayd ffearme in melles abought one yeare the aforesayd vicar of bramfeld demanded & Required of y^{e} sayd John Pryme that he should agreve & paye hym for all his occupieng of his fearme all the yeare before. and thane the sayd John pryme and the vicar of Bramfeld fell at lovinge & byddyn Soo y^{t} Inconclusion they agreed that the sayd John pryme should paye vnto the sayd vicar xvij^{s} a yere this Compossicion to Continue dueringe bothe ther lvyes and so the sayd John pryme ded paye dueringe the tearme aforesayd But shortelye after this Compossicion & grevement so hade and made betwene the sayd parties the sayd vicar of bramfield Came vnto the sayd John prymes howse in melles and deysseyered hym that yf anye of the howse of Mettyngham Colledge axed hym what mony that he payed owt of his fearme vnto the vicar of bramfeld that he should saye y^{t} he payed but x^{s} a yeare for y^{e} vicar sayd y^{t} he was Countable for the monye y^{t} he Receyved of the sayd John pryme vnto the howse of mettyngham Colledge and that he Receyved y^{e} sayd monye of hym for the ministracion vnto hym & to his howshold and for non other thyngs and so prayed the sayd John pryme for to declare & saye yf any man aske hym anythynge Conserninge y^{e} same &c. and so the sayd John pryme accomplyssed his Requeste & deysseyer and payed to the sayd vicar and to his Successors the sayd xvij^{s} frome the tyme aforesayd vntyll the yeare of our lorde god m^{ll} ccccc [and lv^{ti}] In the whiche yeare Syr Anthony Wylkenson thene vicar of bramfeld demanded of the sayd John pryme all his tythes as they ded faull. that is the tente of everie thing that he ded Renewe And Charged the sayd John pryme to on to bramfeld everie Sondaye and hollidaye and also Charged the sayd John pryme that he favered not the ould Relegion and that he was not a good Catholleke man as thene he Called it. and w^{t} dyvers other thyngs Conterarie to the sayd John prymes Conssience. where vpon the sayd John pryme Sought all the mens he Could for to be lossed frome the hands of suche a popysshe Cuerat. at whiche tyme was founde dyvers old anchent Records and wrytyngs for helpe of the same where vpon the sayd John pryme dede absent hym selfe frome bramfeld church and w^{t} held the aforesayd xvij^{s} where vpon now hangethe the seute for the juste tryall of the same In the Consestorie Courte at norwyche and for the pro'fe of the same this declarracion was sought owt and gathered & made the yeare of owr lord god m^{ll} ccccc and l^{ti} &c.

Tho. Edmondston, Esq., of West View, Grove Hill Glebe, Camberwell, S.E., possesses a Cranmer Bible, 1539, inside the cover of which is pasted the following certificate:

> "Notum sit omnibus quibus hoc scriptum p'venerit me Guilihelm' Clarke Thoringtonensis ecclesiæ ministru', audivisse confessionem Johannis Prime, et Agnetis uxoris suæ, Roberti Prime, Annæ Prime, Edmundi Londe, Johanæ Sucke, Johanis Write et Johanæ Aldred 31 Martii et quarto Aprilis eosdemq omnes penitentes et eva'gelio credentes ac vitæ emendationem promittentes authoritate mihi a Chrysto co'cessa rite et legitime absolvisse eisdemq illis ipsis diebus p'scriptis sacru' corpus domini Cr' administrasse in ecclesia Thoringtonensi p'dicta anno humanæ salutis juxta anglicanæ ecclesiæ computationem 1556.

None of these names appear in the Thorington Registers. The first mention of Aldred is in 1740, and of Wright in 1801. As Anthony Wilkenson was at this time Rector of Thorington and Vicar of Bramfield, and was "away in the North," the probability is that William Clarke Thoringtonensis ecclesiæ minister was acting as his locum tenens, and reconciled these people to the church at Thorington, being able to do so with less public attention to the "scandal" than if the reconciliation had taken place in their own larger parish of Bramfield.]

THE STROTHERS OF ALNWICK, BILTON, AND NEWTON ON THE MOOR, NORTHUMBERLAND.*

For a long period before, and up to the commencement of the present century, the name of Strother was a familiar one in Alnwick, and it is doubtful if any one family was more numerously represented there and in the neighbourhood, than they were. Propinquity to the old paternal home at Kirknewton, the ancient inheritance of the heads of the family, doubtless caused Alnwick to be considered a desirable place for younger sons, who, having no prospects by inheritance, had to earn a living in business pursuits. To the credit of Alnwick as a commercial town, this opinion seems to have been well founded, as many of them appear to have acquired quite a considerable share of prosperity, and to have increased and multiplied, and even survived the old parent family, whose estates had passed into the hands of strangers at least seventy years before the last Strother migrated from Alnwick, to seek perhaps a wider scope for his energies.

The early connection of the Strothers with Alnwick is shewn by the following abstracts of wills, administrations, etc., at Durham, and other records; and for much information on the subject the writer is indebted to his old antiquarian friend the late William Dickson of Alnwick, Esq.

A deed, published by Hodgson in his 'History of Northumberland,' shews that as far back as 1350 Alan del Strother,* by his marriage with Constance, daughter of William de Lyam, obtained three messuages in Alnwick as well as the manor of Lyam (ex orig. apud Capheaton).

1496. March 11. General Ordination in the Conventual Church of Alnewyk—Priest, William Strother, Monk of the Order of Cistercians. (Bishop Fox's Register.)

The Heralds, in their visitation of Northumberland in 1666, found an inscription in the old parish church of Alnwick which they thus copied into their book: "Pray for the souls of Thomas and John Strother, Esqrs., Constables of the Castle of Alnwick"; and added underneath, "From Alnwick Church taken in 1666 now remaining in the College of Arms London."

Musters for Northumberland in 1538.—Keeper of the King's Park, Hull Park, Herry Struder. In the list for Alnwick, Edmonde Stroder.

Alnwick—Thomas Stroder of Rynyone } able man wanting horse and harness.

1582. Feb. 16. Administration of the goods of Edmund Strother, late of the parish of Alnwick, deceased, committed to Richard Clarkson, creditor, and next of kin consanguineous of the deceased.

1584. Oct. 14. Will of George Strother of Abberwycke. Desires burial at Alnwick as nigh to his father's body and other his ancestors as may be. Mentions his mother Janet, and cousin Robert Clarke son of John Clarke of Alnwick; and wife Jenat. Bequeaths to Robert Clarke his house in Fenkel Street and the right to a farm in South Charlton.

1598. Dec. 12. Alnwick—Office of Judge against Clement Strother and Isabella Dawson. Presented.

1599. March 18. Alnwick—Office of Judge against Ralph Strother. Presented for contumacy.

From Chapter Library, Durham.—Letter to the Sheriff of Newcastle upon a Writ of Excommunication. "Forasmuch as Clement Strother of the parish of Alnwick, gent., now a prisoner in the jail of Newcastle, was at the visit of the Right Hon. Edward Earl of Bedford apprehended and detained in the said jail. And whereas Clement Strother, gent., son of the said Clement, hath been here this day at Durham and specified and paid to us Jo. King and Stephen Hegg, proctors of the said Earl, to the use of the said Earl, the sums of money for which he was excommunicated and attached. These are to signify unto you that the premises are true, and if he be committed thither for no other matter you may suffer him to go hither to Durham to receive absolution, and so free himself of the trouble."

There is no date to this document, but the will of Clement Strother shews it to have been previous to 1609.

1609. Administration of Thomas Strother, late of the parish of Alnwick,

* This Alan del Strother was son of William del Strother living in 1318, who, according to the Calverley MS. (Brit. Mus.), became of Kirknewton by his marriage with Johanna, daughter of Walter Corbet grandson of Patrick, 5th Earl of Dunbar, by his wife Ada, natural daughter of William the Lion. Hodgson has made a great hash of the Strother Pedigree, and it seems a pity not to correct the confusion he has made amongst the three Alan Strothers. The William above mentioned had sons Henry, who received a grant for his services at the Battle of Durham (French Rolls, 20 Ed. III.), and succeeded to the estates at Kirknewton; two sons of the name of Alan, who in deeds are distinguished as Alan senior and Alan junior. The former of these was Constable of the Castle of Roxburgh, and lived till 1408. The latter, who married Constance de Lyam, was progenitor of the Strothers of Wallington. His Inq. p.m. 1381. John was probably another son, but has not yet been proved so. William, another son was Mayor of Newcastle several times from 1354. He married Matilda, daughter of Peter Draper, M.P. for Newcastle 1348, by Agnes, daughter of Richard de Emeldon, Mayor of Newcastle in 1306. Joan, apparently the only daughter, married 1st William, second son of William Sire de Coucy (see 'Genealogist'); 2nd the famous John de Coupland. Alan junior had a son Alan who married Margaret Jadys, and died during the lifetime of his father. Hodgson has made Alan senior father of his brother Alan junior, and given Margaret Jadys to her husband's uncle.

deceased, committed to Phillis Strother wife of the deceased, and to the use of William Strother their son.

1609. Feb. 25. Will of Clement Strother of Callecks Park in the parish of Alnwick. "To my son Lyonell Strother the right of my now dwelling house with all corn sowen and to be sowen upon the lands thereto belonging, etc. I give to my son Clement .... (illegible) .... I give unto my son .... (illegible) .... I give unto my son .... (illegible) .... I give to Mr John Strother son and heir of Mr Lancelot the choice of my two young colts, also a cloak which I bought of my son Lyonell. I give to William Selbye the other of the young colts. To my two daughters, namely Grace and Ann .... (illegible) .... To my daughter Elizabeth thirty ewes and lambs. To my wife Awdery Strother the right of my farm in Longhoughton for the benefit of the lease thereof during her widowhood at the discretion of Mr Lancelot Strother .... (illegible) .... son Clement's son .... (illegible) ...." Residue to wife, whom he appoints guardian of his two children Frances and Mary under age. Mr Lancelot Strother, Supervisor.

Clement Strother was one of two brothers of the same name, sons of William Strother of Kirknewton, Esq., who died in 1609, the date of Clement's will. Lancelot Strother, the supervisor of the will, was the eldest-surviving son of William, and succeeded to the estates of Kirknewton and Fowberry. It is to be regretted that this will is so much damaged as to be almost undecipherable. The loss of the names of two sons militates against proving Clement to be the founder of at least one of the branches in Alnwick, which he doubtless was.

1613. In the Consistory Court, Durham, a suit was promoted by Clement Strother against Awdrian Strother, widow, executrix of the will of Clement Strother, for non-payment of certain sums of money he claimed. Failing to give the necessary proofs decree was given against him.

After a struggle for above sixty Hours
With that grand enemy to Life
(But the certain and Mercifull Friend to Helpless Old Age)

Without Recovery of her Speech or Senses

Evans, D.D., Rector of West Tilbury, Essex, and Chaplain to George the III., was born May 1799, and entered the Navy in 1812, under Sir Home Popham, was present at an attack upon the French at Legneytio and other places on French coast, ending with capture of Castle of Auo. He became Lieutenant in 1819, Commander 1827, and Post-Captain in 1837. He was nominated a K.H. same year, and knighted in 1838, the two last honours for distinguished service against pirates in the Straits of Malacca. To him may be ascribed the merit of having commenced a system of decided operations against these marauders.†

Sir S. L. H. Vassall married, in 1844, Letitia, only dau. of Edw. Berkeley Napier, Esq., of Pennard House, co. Somerset, and widow of Rev. C. H. Pulsford, Canon of Wells, and Vicar of Burnham, Somerset.

Sir Spencer Vassall was descended from John Vassall, who, in 1588, fitted out two vessels, commanding one himself, to assist the royal fleet against the Spanish Armada, and from his son Samuel Vassall, Alderman and M.P. for City of London from 1642 to 1660. He was one of the first to resist the tax of "tunnage and poundage," for which he suffered severely at hands of the Government. With his brother William he became one of the first proprietors of Massachusetts Bay, where the family eventually settled, and became large owners of land in New England, also the West Indies, down to the time of the War of Independence, when Sir Spencer's grandfather, being a Royalist, left the colony and retired to England. His mansion at Cambridge and all his property were confiscated by the United States Government, and himself outlawed. His house was the Head-quarters of Washington on his taking command of the "Continentals" at Cambridge in 1775; eventually it was purchased by the Poet Longfellow, where he lived and died. It is now in possession of that family.

Arms: In the Visitation of London by S^{t} George in 1633-34-35 appears "Vassall, the Arms respited until he can send into Fraunce where his Ancestors remained." After a time the family assumed a rebus coat, viz.: Azure, in chief a sun, in base a chalice, or. Crest: A ship proper. Motto: "Sœpe pro Rege semper pro Republica." On account of gallant services of Lieut.-Col. Vassall at Monte Video, the following Honourable augmentation was granted to the widow and descendants:—A sun rising in splendour from behind a breached bastion of a fortress, the words "Monte Video" above the same, on a canton ar. the number "38" within a branch of cypress and another of laurel, the stems uniting in saltire proper vert. Crest: On a wreath of the colours, upon a mount vert, a breached fortress, thereon hoisted a flag gu., with Monte Video in letters or. Motto: "Every bullet has its billet," being the expression used when Col. Vassall was hit, and some of his men wished to stop and pick him up—"Push on, brave 38th, never mind me; 'every bullet has its billet.'"

Sir Spencer L. H. Vassall died in 1846, s.p.; his widow Dame Letitia Vassall in 1878.

NOTES TO THE PEDIGREE OF FLOYER OF INDIA.

In the church at Richmond is a monument with the following inscription:—"In the adjacent aisle lies interred the body of Lieutenant-Colonel Charles Floyer, descended from a very ancient family, lately of Floyer-Hays, in the county of Devon. He went into K. William's army as an ensign, and raised himself by his merits. Then (having quitted the highest station) he married (A.D. 1714) Jane the daughter of Mr Nath. Turner of Fleet Street in London, by whom he left issue Charles, Wills, and Jane; dying the 30th of April 1731, in a house he built in this town. Charles Floyer died 7 Sept. 1766, aged 51. Wills Floyer died in the East Indies January the 31st, 1738, aged 20 years and nine months. Mrs Jane Floyer, relict of Col. Floyer, died 30 Aug. 1759." (Manning and Bray's 'Surrey.')

In Ripon Cathedral is a tombstone of white marble with the following inscription:—"Sacred to the memory of Charles Floyer esquire who died Sep. 7th 1766, aged 51." A coat of arms in black marble underneath a chevron between three arrows, points downwards (no tinctures). The name of this Charles Floyer is mentioned frequently in Mills's 'History of India' and other works.

In the British Museum is a pamphlet, entitled 'An abstract of the Trial of G. Stratton, Charles Floyer, etc., for deposing the Rt. Hon. Lord Pigot, etc., Governor of Madras.' Lord Pigot was deposed arbitrarily by seven (?) members of his own Council on the subject of the Benfield claims in 1777. He was imprisoned and died in prison. Charles Floyer seems to have been suspended in consequence, but that he was not altogether thought culpable is shewn by his appointment to the Guntoor Circars in 1782.

Whichcote Turner, brother of Mrs. Jane Floyer, was a Director of the East India Company; hence probably the connection of the family with that service.

In the church at Upwey is a monument of white marble with an urn at the top and serpents twisted as handles to the urn. The inscription is as follows:—"To the memory of Ann Floyer, daughter of Warren Lisle, Esq. This monument is erected in testimony," etc. She died 14 Jan. 1774, aged 32.

JOHN COOKE, ESQ., OF SWIFTS IN CRANBROOK.

John Cooke of Great Swifts in Cranbrook, Kent, was descended, according to Hasted, from a younger branch of the Cookes of Middlesex. He died seised of this property April 3, 1741, aged 68 years, and was buried in St. Dunstan's Churchyard, Cranbrook, where also lie the remains of Ellen his wife, who died July 1726, aged 43. There still remains a stone to their memory, but the inscription is almost illegible. The entry in the Burial Register is, "April 10, 1741, John Cooke, Esq. of Swift," etc. The first mention of him which occurs in the Cranbrook Registers is, "1713 July 5 George son of the R^t^ Worshipful John Cooke Esq. by Ellen his wife." Hasted states that he left issue by his wife, three sons and four daughters. In 1718 there is recorded the burial of a daughter, and in 1724 and 1743 sons, but none of these are named on the tombstone. He was succeeded by his eldest son John, who was Sheriff in 1745, and died June 14, 1782. This second John sold the property to Mr. Jeremiah Curteis of Rye. Ann, a daughter of John Cooke and Ellen his wife, married on 18 March 1741-2 Richard Beale of Biddenden, Esq., which Richard was born on 19 October 1717, and died 6 November 1786. Anne died 6 December 1761.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REGISTERS OF ST. PAUL'S, FALMOUTH, ISLAND OF ANTIGUA.*

The following extracts relating to officers and their families were copied in 1889 from the Registers of St. Paul's, Falmouth, in the Island of Antigua. English Harbour, including its dockyard, batteries, and barracks, is situated in this parish, and it was here that our men-of-war, on the Leeward Islands' Station, refitted during the long wars of last century. Most of the officers were buried in the parish graveyard, but, as deaths from yellow fever and wounds increased, a special burial-ground was enclosed near the barracks.

Genealogical Notes and Queries.

GOSTWICKE ARMS.

In the 'Visitation of Bedfordshire,' published by the Harleian Society in 1884, is a pedigree of Gostwicke of Willington. In it occurs the name of Sir John Gostwicke, Knt., Treasurer of the First Fruits and Rents to King Henry VIII. A footnote, at p. 33, quoting Harl. MS. 5867, says that he was also Master of the Horse to Cardinal Wolsey, "wherefore he haue ye horses' heads in ye cheife." The correct blazon of this chief would much oblige.

Chorlton-cum-Hardy. JOHN E. SANDBACH.

MAJOR-GENERAL THOMAS HARRISON, THE REGICIDE.

I should be glad to have any information as to the descendants of the above named (as also as to his ancestry) from any of your correspondents, through 'Misc. Gen. et Her.,' beyond what is contained in the pages of 'Notes and Queries' for 1854, 1862, and 1880, from which I gather that he married Catherine, daughter of Ralph Harrison of Highgate, and had, besides three sons buried at St. Anne's, Blackfriars, a son, Stanley Harrison, living 1712, and a granddaughter, Anne, who married 1704 Thomas Willing.

F. W. T. ATTREE, Capt. R.E.

PETER TALBOT.

Information is sought for respecting the English ancestry of Peter Talbot, who died in New England about the year 1704. According to tradition, extending back upwards of sixty years, he was born in Lancashire, and went to school at Edinburgh, and while there was kidnapped and carried on board a vessel bound for America. From this he escaped when near the coast and got on shore at Rhode Island, ultimately settling in Dorchester. He married, 12 January 1677, Mary Wadell. Of this marriage there was issue, amongst other children, one son George Talbot, born 28 December 1688, who lived until 1760. The Christian name Peter may help to identify, and I should be glad of reference to any Talbots bearing this name, more especially in Lancashire during the middle part of the seventeenth century.

124 Chancery Lane, W.C. W. P. W. PHILLIMORE.

CLEMENTS-MOORE.

Robert Clements, Clerk, of Dunnington, Somerset, was married early in the seventeenth century to Edith, daughter of William Moore of Enniscorthy. This lady, who I believe was born in Wiltshire, died in 1639. I am unable to identify Dunnington in Somerset. Can any one give me further information of Rev. Robert Clements, his parents or his children ?

ST. JOHN'S GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH, LUDGATE HILL, LONDON.

The congregation of this church was dissolved in or about the year 1791. Information is much desired as to the present place of deposit of the Registers belonging thereto. They are not to be found among the "Non-parochial Records" at Somerset House. Replies may be sent direct.

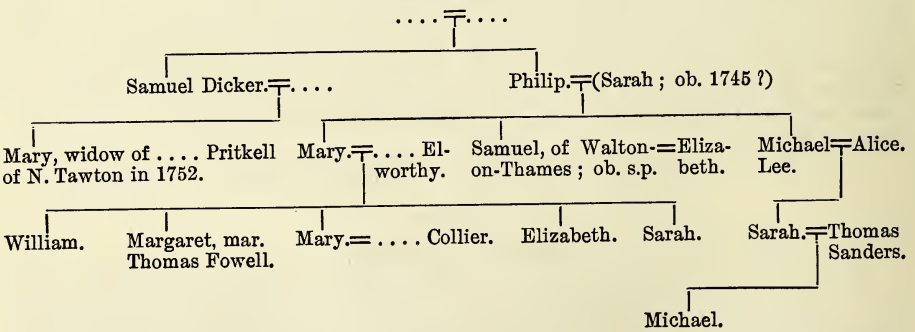
DICKER FAMILY.

It is stated in the Life of Thomas Dicker of Lewes, banker, that "a branch of the family from the Berkshire stock was at rather an early date planted in Devon, a member of which, Philip, born circ. 1655, resided at Crediton, and was in the wool trade," and whose son was Michael Lee Dicker, whose portrait by Hudson is in the Exeter hospital. In the grant of arms to Philip, 1749, it is stated that his family came from Saxony, and bore arms different from any other of that name, which arms are unlike those of the Sussex Dickers (Argent, on a chevron gules between three choughs proper a crescent or). Philip Dicker died 1753. His will was proved in Exeter, January 1754. His wife died before him ; and his sons :

1. Samuel Dicker, died 1 January 1760. (Will 17 Lynch.)
2. Michael Lee Dicker, born in Exeter 1695 ; died in Exeter 2 October 1752. (Will 273 Bettesworth.)

PEDIGREE FROM THEIR WILLS.



Information wanted as to Philip Dicker and his parents, and descendants of his brother Samuel.

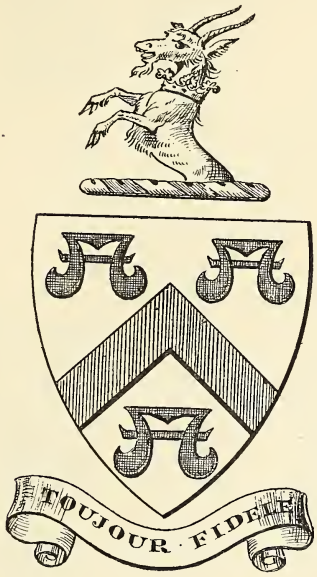
Pedigree of Heard,

FORMERLY OF WILTS, NOW OF CO. CORK.*



Arms: Argent, a chevron gules between three water-bougets sable.
Crest: A demi-goat salient, gorged with a ducal coronet.
Motto: TOUJOUR FIDÈLE.

The above arms have been borne by Yeard, Yerde, Yard, Heard, Hard, and Herd —which are evidently but different ways of spelling the same name. I have compiled the Pedigree from information obtained at the Heralds' College and Ulster Office, from the Record Office, from wills and deeds, and from private information. I am compelled to differ—on the clearest documentary proof—from Sir Isaac Heard, Garter King of Arms, who undoubtedly recorded his pedigree incorrectly. He begins it with John Heard, who died in 1670, calls him the first settler at Bandon, and gives his wife as Mary (Heanes), whereas his wife was Jane (Rice ?). The first settler was another John—the father of this one—and whose wife was Mary Heanes. Some old wills from Cork have recently been brought up to the Record Office in Dublin, and are only now being indexed. These documents were probably not available when Sir Isaac compiled his pedigree. He has also made the John from whom he derived, the eldest son, which he undoubtedly was not ; he is not mentioned in his father's will, but his mother is stated to be then with child. The family is stated to be of Wilts on Sir Isaac's authority. I can find no documentary proof. He gives the above as his paternal coat.

Genealogical Notes and Queries.

BERKELEY AND WOLFE.

Wanted to trace what was the connection between Berkeley and Wolfe families. The celebrated Bishop Berkeley and the father of General James Wolfe are said to have been "cousins-german," and born same year, 1685—(General) Ed. Wolfe in Wicklow, (Bishop) George Berkeley in co. Kilkenny. The Bishop's mother is also said to have been "aunt to Genl. Ed. Wolfe."

DOUGLAS.

ISAAC ALLERTON OF PLYMOUTH, MASS.

Information wanted as to the time and place of birth, and ancestry, of Isaac Allerton, who was one of the first settlers of Plymouth, Mass., commonly called the Pilgrims. He is believed to have been born about 1585, and resided at London prior to removing to Holland in or about 1609. He was married at Leyden 4 November 1611 to Mary Norris of Newbury. Sailed from Plymouth on the Mayflower 6 September 1620. He was the wealthiest of all the Pilgrims, and a man of some education, and was for a long time the representative of the Colonists at the Court and in London. He is generally believed to have been a native of Suffolk. Any information may be sent direct if preferred.

THE STIFFS OF SILCHESTER.

Thomas Stiff of Chertsey was the son of Thomas Stiff of Westminster, who was buried at Chertsey in 1734, aged 84. From the fact that this family still owns property at Silchester, it may be assumed that they are descended from the Stiffes of

* Governor of Dover Castle. Nephew of Mary Crispe, wife of Sir Thomas Cullum, first Baronet, and father of Savilia Strode, who married her first cousin, Thomas Cullum of Ealing.

† Mary, daughter of Thomas Cullum of Great Dunmow, widow of Sir Thomas Bromsall, and wife of the Rev. John Herbert.

‡ Daughter of Sir Nicholas Strode of Chevening, Kent, and grandniece of Mary Crispe, wife of Sir Thomas Cullum, first Baronet.

Bramley, Silchester, and Strathfieldsaye, who owned property in that district in the seventeenth century. I give an outline of their pedigree.

Thomas Stiffe of Bramley; will 1594.=Avis.

Agnes Henslow, d. 1595.=Thomas Stiffe of Bramley, d. about 1637.=Eleanor Leech, widow.

- Thomas Stiffe of Silchester, b. 1583; d. 1661.=Elizabeth.
  - Thomas Stiffe of Bramley, ? d. 1668.=Joan Cooper, mar. 1643.
    - Edward Stiffe.
    - Thomas Stiffe, filed bill in Chancery 1700; perhaps identical with Thomas Stiff of Westminster.
- John, of Richmond, Surrey, d. 1641.
- Stephen, of London and Strathfieldsaye, d. 1647.=†
  - Thomas Stiff of Westminster, b. 1650; d. 1734. Settled lands at Silchester upon his wife.=Ann.
    - Thomas Stiff of Chertsey, solicitor, d. 1760, aged 45.=†
- Four daughters.

I shall be glad of any facts which will help to connect Thomas Stiff of 1650—1734 with the Stiffs of Bramley, or indeed of any memoranda respecting the Stiff family in Hampshire.

STIFF OR STEFF OF SUFFOLK.

Notes about this family will be acceptable to the undersigned. A yeoman family of Steffe was settled at Drinkston about 1600, and the name under the form of Stiff continued there until recent times. Daniel Stiff of Norton, who "came from Drinkston," died in 1813, aged 104, and was followed to the grave by about 150 relatives or descendants. About the commencement of the seventeenth century there were Steffes at Tuddenham, quere Suffolk.

John Steffe, "mediocris fortunæ."=

Robert Steffe, matriculated at Caius Coll., Camb., 1598; aged 16.=

- John Steffe, mat. Caius Coll., Camb., 1633.
- Thomas, mat. Caius Coll., Camb., 1634.
- Robert, mat. Caius Coll., Camb., 1635-6.

At Emanuel College, Cambridge, George Steffe graduated B.A. in 1673, and John Stiffe B.A. in 1692. The latter may be identical with the Rev. John Steffe, Rector of Wrentham, Suffolk, in the following fragmentary pedigree.

. . . . Steffe.=Mary . . . ., bur at Wrentham 1707.

Rev. John Steffe, Rector of Wrentham, d. 8 Aug. 1737, aged 66.=Martha Copland, bur. at Wrentham, 4 March 1740, aged 66.

- Mary=William Crisp.
- William, b. 1714.
- Rev. Thomas Steffe of Taunton, b. 1716.
- John, b. 1718.
- James, b. 1720; d. 1751.
- Martha.=John Crisp.=†
- Others.

Any facts which will connect the above families, or others of the name in Suffolk, will be welcome. At the present time Steff as a surname is rare. Many of the East Anglian Steffs appear now to have become Stiffs.

* This was the poet William Shenstone of "The Leasowes." "Lappall" is one of the divisions of Halesowen. It is very remarkable that though the poet was born and baptized at Halesowen, he was matriculated at Pembroke College, Oxford (on 25 May 1732, aged 17), as son of "Thomas Shenstone of Wickstone [? Wigston], co. Leicester, gent." (Foster's 'Alumni Oxonienses.') It appears from Nichols's 'Leicestershire,' iv., 504, that there was a family of Shenstone at Market Bosworth in the last century, but the first of them appears to have been Thomas Shenstone, who died 1762, aged 67.

† This was the poet's grandfather. Nash, 'Hist. Worc.,' i., 529, says he died "in August 1726." According to the same authority, it was he who purchased the farm called the "Leasowes" in Halesowen. It was previously occupied, and perhaps owned, by a family named Underhill. Richard Underhill of the Leasowes was buried at Halesowen 16 June 1660, and Cecily Underhill of the Leasowes on 13 March 1679-80.

‡ Mother of the poet, and eldest daughter and coheir of William Penn of Harborough Hall, Hagley. The licence for the marriage of "Thomas Shenston of Halesowen, bachelor, æt. 25, & Ann Penn of Hagley, spinster, æt. 20," is dated 5 February 1713. Her sister Mary Penn was married to Rev. Thomas Dolman, Rector of Broome, at Churchill, near Kidderminster, 17 February 1725-6.

§ Brother of the poet, "bred an attorney, but never practised." In a letter dated from "The Leasowes," 14 February 1752, the poet writes (to Mr. Graves):—"Alas! my dearest friend! I have lost my only brother, and since the fatal close of November, I have never had peace nor respite from agonizing thoughts!"

I do not find that William Shenstone ever used any armorial bearings, and certainly he inherited none from his ancestors; but from the following remarks in a letter of 15 July 1753 to his friend Mr. Graves, it would seem that he desired to discover what (if any) arms he was entitled to:—"Lord Dudley [Ferdinando, of the Grange, Halesowen] made M^{r} Dolman a present of a piece of plate, a large cup, in consideration of his sister's being at Broom about half a year. There was on it, one supporter awkwardly enough holding up the coronet in his paw, & from the coronet proceeded a label, with 'Amoris ergo Dudley.' I do not know who was the manager, or whence he had the inscription; but I think from D^{r} H. This is elegant and enough. Nevertheless, as there may be some convenience in dazzling the eyes of the people where I dwell, and as such eyes as theirs are not to be dazzled, & hardly struck by elegance alone, I chose the method that was most magnificent. I wish they are not invidious enough to say that his arms are engraved there for want of some of my own; so I would not be long before I remove their notable suggestion. I have truly so low an opinion of arms since they became purchaseable by money, & since the present unlimited use of them, that, were I to find a coat to my name in the office which I did not like, I would not use it; but substitute what was more agreeable ; yet some sort of right or claim is requisite to satisfy one's delicacy with an opinion of property ; and indeed to fix one's choice, where one has the whole furniture of the universe for its object. . . . I do not therefore chuse to employ a vulgar mind about this matter. Were you to go to London I should gladly solicit you ; or if you have any friend you could write to in town, to search the office ; for really I have none that I like for the purpose. It will not cost above a couple of shillings."

Upon this I may remark that although the officials at the Heralds' College might have made the requisite search for a coat of arms appertaining to some family of the surname of Shenstone, and supplied a description or sketch of such coat, for the small fee of "a couple of shillings," they certainly would not have given their official sanction to its being borne by the poet, unless he could prove to their satisfaction his descent from the family to which it had been allowed, or from the individual to whom it had been granted.

H. Sydney Grazebrook.

The Register Book of Maxey, co. Northants.*

The earliest Register of the parish of Maxey-with-Deeping-Gate contains 54 leaves of parchment, two leaves at the beginning having been destroyed. Of these, 25 record Baptisms from November 1552 to April 1713 ; 16 the Marriages from 1538 to November 1712 ; and 21 the Burials from 1538 to May 1713. The whole parish contains about 1700 acres, and the population, including the hamlet of Deeping-Gate, has varied during the present century from 411, in 1851, to 611, in 1841 ; these being the two extremes. At the present time the inhabitants are about 520.

Genealogical Notes and Queries.

BARTON FAMILY.

Can any reader give me any information as to the parentage, etc., of the John Barton whose will, dated 1490, appears in this month's number.

He was the Barton, mentioned by Thoroton in his 'History of Notts.,' who built a "fair" house at Newark with couplet in the window :—

"I praise God & ever shall
It was the sheep that paid for all."

He was evidently a man of wealth, and one would hardly think, if he had been of obscure origin, that his son would have married an heiress of an important branch of the powerful Radcliffe family.

The arms ('Visit. co. Lanc.,' 1567), Azure, a fess between three bucks' heads cabossed or, are very different to any other Barton coat.

February, 1891. ENQUIRER.

PEDIGREE OF VERNON (p. 206).

I wish to draw attention to an error on page 206 in the January number of the 'Miscellanea Genealogica.'

Jane the second wife of Henry Vernon is stated to have been born in March 1774, just three months after her marriage in Dec. 1773; while Mary her youngest sister was born in 1749. The 1774 should probably be 1744.

E. H. O.

* Afterwards second Baronet of Hawstead and Hardwick.

† Afterwards married to William Hanmer of Bettisfield, Flint, and mother by him of Sir Thomas Hanmer, Speaker of the House of Commons, and Editor of Shakespeare.

* Lovell's Hall, in the Parish of Terrington St. Clement's, near Lynn, is an old gabled mansion standing in a small park, about a mile south of the church, on the road leading to Tilney. It is believed to have been built, or rebuilt, in 1543, and was of larger extent than it is now. The lower stage and the projecting porch are of Barnack stone; the upper stages are of brick. It contains an old panelled room, and the walls are in some places four or five feet thick. The Manor of Lovell's Hall is not mentioned separately in Blomefield's 'History of Norfolk,' (ix., 84), but it seems to be the same as that originally called "Bardolph's Fee," of which "the whole right was in the Lovells" before 1416, when Thomas Lovell, of Barton Bendish, Norfolk, presented to the Chapel of St. James, now destroyed. By his will, dated Sept. 10, 9th Henry V., he gives it to his second son Nicholas, who presented in 1424. William Lovell of Wretton presented in 1503. Blomefield (i.e. Parkin) says that it passed from the Lovells to the Howards, and was united with "Howard's Manor" in the same parish. But the family of Richers resided at Lovell's Hall, and held the manor for a very long time before 1688, when it was sold to Thorowgood Upwood; and both Howard's and Lovell's Manors still exist, separately. There are views of the house in Mason's 'Norfolk Photographically Illustrated;' and in Willins's 'Old Halls and Manor Houses of Norfolk.'

Genealogical Notes and Queries.

ATTE MOURE, WHATMORE, JOHANNING.

John Atte Moure of Monks Sherbourne, Hants, is mentioned 15 Edward III. (1341), when he attended before the Commission of Ninths as one of the jurors for his parish. He is again mentioned 22 Edward III., when he paid a fine of fourteen shillings for pardon for acquiring a messuage and 45 acres in Monks Sherbourne and Pamber without license (Rot. Orig., II., 197 ; Inq. p. Mort., II., 147). The "Inquisitiones post mortem" of 2 Richard III. (1484) mention "Agnes quæ fuit uxor Roberti atte More et nuper uxor Willielmi Brocas de Bradlegh." Information is desired as to this family of Atte Moure and of any other family of the name. It is believed, but on no substantial ground, that the Atte Moures were the ancestors of the Watmore or Whatmour family of Hants, and the querist will be grateful for any information tending to throw light upon the supposition.

The "Inquisitiones Nonarum" also mention John Atte Moure of Hartley Westpall, Hants; Richard Atte Moure of Stoneham Abbots, Hants ; and Thomas Atte Mor of St. Mary's, Southampton ; seven occurrences of the name are found in the Inquisitions for Dorset and Berks, and one or two instances are in the returns of several neighbouring counties. It is more than probable that the Atte Moures here mentioned belonged to several distinct families, especially as the name has a locative import, the idea of which all the southern counties might have supplied in abundance. In 14 Edward III. the marriage of Matilda Atte More was granted to Thomas de Bradeston (Cal. Rot. Pat. 138).

If the Atte Moures and Whatmores are distinct families, is there any known descendant of the former now living ?

Information is also requested of the parents and descendants of a Mr. Johanning, who lived in Albany Street, Regent's Park, about 1830, and was a relative of the Whatmores whose pedigree is given on page 193.

Ashby-de-la-Zouche. A. W. Whatmore.

CLEMENTS (p. 208).

Robert Clement was the Rector of Seavington St. Michael, Somerset, with the Chapel of Dinnington annexed, to which he was presented by John, Lord Poulett, in 1632, but was ejected by the Parliament. He was a brother of Gregory Clement, one of the so-called judges by whom King Charles was condemned to death, for which traitorous act he was executed in 1660.

CLEMENTS OF IGHTHAM MOTE.

Sir William Clements of Ightham Mote, Kent, married a daughter of John Goring of Sussex, by whom he had two sons : (1) Sir Richard, of Ightham Mote, Sheriff of Kent 1532, married Anne, daughter of Sir William Catesby; (2) John, also of Ightham Mote. He had also a daughter, Alice, married Sir E. Palmer of Angmering. I shall be obliged for any further information concerning the above, or the descendants of any of them.

ADDENDA TO FAMILY OF YARDLEY. (Vide p. 232.)

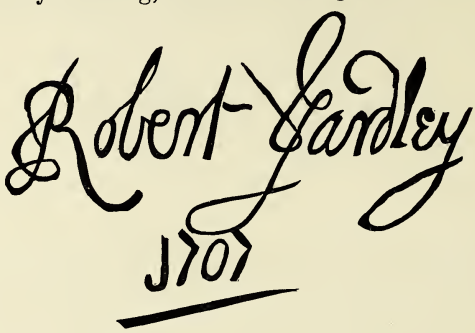
We have in our library a book containing the bookplate of Edward Yardley, which is like the one first shewn in this Pedigree. The book apparently belonged to Edward's father, as it contains his signature. As the Pedigree contains no facsimile of this Yardley's writing, I enclose tracing.



The volume containing the above bookplate and signature is: The | Mystery | of the | Christian Faith | and of | The Blessed Trinity | Vindicated | and The Divinity of Christ | Proved | In Three Sermons | . . . . | by the late Reverend | William Payne, D.D. | London, | Printed for Richard Cumberland, at the Angel in | St. Pauls Church Yard. 1697. Price 1s. . . . .

Some years ago there was an Episcopalian clergyman in this State named Yardley. I am told that he belonged to a numerous family of the name living in or near Philadelphia, and that they are mostly Quakers.

NOTES.

1. The manors of Ibstock and Overton were sold to Thomas Clare and Samuel Bracebridge of Atherstone, co. Warwick, gent., in June 1654, by Robert Abbott and John Morris, both of London, gentlemen; William Clare of Atherstone, shoemaker, was Thomas Clare's trustee, and John Savage of Wilnecote, co. Warwick, gent., was trustee for Bracebridge. A partition was made immediately after. Other property was purchased by Thomas Clare in 1679 of Samuel Bainbrigg, son and heir of Henry Bainbrigg of Lantegglos, near Foy, co. Cornwall, clerk.

2. The Whitehills Farm, in the parish of Donington on the Heath, Leicester, formerly belonged to the Earls of Huntingdon. It was sold in 1614 to John Sherwood of Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Leicester, blacksmith, by Henry, Earl of Huntingdon, Sir Henry Hastings, Knight, of The Newarke, Leicester, and Henry Cutler of Blackfordby, co. Leicester, gent., servant to the Earl. In 1671 John Sherwood of Bingham, Notts, gent., conveyed it to John Weston of Hugglescote, Leicester, gent., from whom it passed to the Clares, probably by Elizabeth the wife of the second Thomas Clare. A moiety of it was settled in 1707 by Thomas and Elizabeth on their son John on his marriage with Ann Burgess, the trustees of the settlement being Robert Burgess of Donington on the Heath, and John Clare of Ibstock, yeomen. John the settlee purchased the other moiety in 1714. The estate was again settled in 1742, on the marriage of William Clare with Mary Weston, one of the daughters of Jane Weston of Hugglescote Grange, widow; the trustees of this settlement were John Wright of Claybrook, co. Leicester, gent., and Thomas Dodge of Whittington Grange, co. Leicester, gent.; Mary's portion was £500. After Mary's death, another settlement was made in 1745 on William's marriage with Mary Chiswell (whose portion was £300), the trustees being John Chiswell of Swepston, gent., and Thomas Clare of Ibstock, gent.

The parents of Anne Shepley were Marmaduke Shepley and Elizabeth Spencer, who were married at Wakefield Church on the 1st day of April 1714. Elizabeth Spencer was probably the daughter of Robert Spencer of Leeds, merchant (see Thoresby's 'Ducatus,' p. 104). Marmaduke Shepley died on the 7th March 1722-3, aged 34, and was buried in Wakefield Church on the 8th. Hannah, the youngest child, married Thomas Walker of London. Thomas Shepley the younger married, secondly, Priscilla, daughter of Stephen Hartley, and had issue William Hartley, Mary, and Thomas. Marmaduke Shepley of Leeds was buried at Wakefield 2 June 1785.

On a brass affixed to a tombstone in Wakefield Church is this inscription : "Here Lyes interrd ye Body of Mr Marm. Shepley of Wakefield, who departed this Life the 7th of Marᶜʰ 1722, and in yᵉ 35th year of his age;" and on the tombstone this: "Here Lyeth .... Body of Sarah ...., Daughter of M .... duke Shepley, who died yᵉ 5th of March ...., aged 8 months."

On a tombstone in St. John's Churchyard, Leeds, is the inscription: "Here lie interred the bodies of Sarah, the wife of Thomas Shepley, who died August 23rd, 1748, aged 27 years, also two of their children; of Thomas, son of the said Thomas Shepley, aged 4 years; of Ann, second wife to the said Thomas Shepley, who died January 16th, 1757, aged 27 years; of Ann, who died an infant; of the aforesaid Thomas Shepley, who died July 23rd, 1784, aged 70 years; of Elizabeth, third wife of the above Thomas Shepley, who died Janʸ 7th, 1788, aged 62 years; of Ann, wife of Thomas Shepley, junr, son of the above Thomas Shepley of Barwick in Elmet, who died March 10th, 1789, aged 31 years; of John, son of the said Thomas Shepley, junr, who was interred Augt 4th, 1814, aged 28 years; of the said Thomas Shepley, junr, who was interred March 13th, 1828, aged 71 years."

On a tombstone in Rotherham Church is the following inscription: "John Kent, Gent., late of Kimberworth, died August yᵉ 17th 1754."

William Carew is said to have been killed by the earthquake at Lisbon on the 1st November 1755; his son Thomas died on the 16th May 1755.

The following extract is from the Registers at Barwick in Elmet Church: "No. 73. Richard Lumb of Barwick in Elmet and Elizabeth Carew of the said town and parish were married in this Church by Licence this twenty-third day of February 1763, by me, W. Wighton, Curate. This marriage was solemnized between us—R. Lumb, Elizabeth Carew—in the presence of Thos Shepley, Martha Carew."

Martha Carew was married to John Wales on the 11th December 1766 at the Leeds Parish Church. Anne Carew was married to Mr. Robert Harrison of Leeds, and Mary Carew is said to have married a Mr. Herbert. Mark Carew was married to Mary Hewitt on the 24th April 1788 at Barwick in Elmet Church, and died s.p. on the 30th May 1798.

WILLOUGHBY.

In Miss Agnes Strickland's 'Lives of the Queens of England,' she says, "Elizabeth had six ladies of honour in her household at Hatfield whose names are celebrated by Sir John Harrington in a complimentary poem addressed to that Princess early in the reign of Mary .... He proceeds to praise .... Lady Willoughby for being a laurel instead of a willow .... Where can this poem be found? Will some one who has it kindly give the quotation in regard to Margaret Willoughby?

Sir Walter Scott, in 'Ivanhoe,' describes Richard Cœur de Lion as returning to England in disguise after his imprisonment in Austria, and bearing the device of a fetterlock. Is it a fact of history that he bore the device? If so, is it supposed to have had reference to his captivity?

Descendants of Col. William Willoughby, Commissioner and Purveyor of the British Navy from 1648 till his death in 1651, have an embroidered linen tablecloth with which the tradition has come down from his time that it was wrought by Princess Elizabeth when imprisoned by her sister Mary, and given by her to one of her Maids of Honour, who was a Willoughby, and a relative of hers, from whom it has come down in the family. We learn in English history that Miss Margaret Willoughby, a cousin of the Princess, shared her captivity. To the Exhibition of the Royal House of Tudor, Lady Middleton lent a "coverlid of lace and needlework worked by Queen Elizabeth when Princess, and her kinswoman Margaret Willoughby of Wollaton, afterwards Lady Arundell of Wardour." The tablecloth owned by these Willoughby descendants in America has wrought upon it a padlock. Edward Plantagenet of the family of Edward III. used the fetterlock or padlock to signify that he was "locked out of his kingdom" by the Lancastrian line. It was borne afterwards by his great-great-grandson Edward IV., great-grandfather of Queen Elizabeth. Did the Princess recall the old device, and use it with its signification that she "was locked out of the kingdom"?

Col. William Willoughby of Kent, born about 1588, of the British Navy from 1648 till his death in 1651, and his son Francis Willoughby, his successor in office, afterwards Member of Parliament, and still later Deputy-Governor of Massachusetts, bore the arms of the early Willoughby de Eresbys: Or, fretty azure. Crest, A lion's head (formerly a bat's) couped at the shoulders, between two wings expanded. Their descendants in America have relics and traditions which, in connection with the facts of English history, offer strong circumstantial evidence, which is accepted by the representatives of the families of Willoughbys de Eresby and Wollaton, as shewing that Col. William Willoughby belonged to the De Eresby line in one of the early generations, after the marriage of Robert Willoughby of Bore Place, Kent (son of Sir Thomas, Chief Justice, grandson of Sir Christopher, Baron Willoughby de Eresby), to Dorothy, daughter of Sir Edward Willoughby of Wollaton. Can there be found pedigrees giving all the descendants of Robert and Dorothy Willoughby for three generations? What sons had they besides Thomas, Sheriff of Kent? What grandsons besides Sir Percival, who married Bridget, eldest daughter of Sir Francis Willoughby of Wollaton, and Edward, who married Winifred, a younger daughter of Sir Francis? Did either of these brothers have a son William? Can a William, born about 1588, be found in any generation of the family existing before that date? The facts desired are very important to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Elbridge Salisbury of New Haven, Conn., U.S. America., in the preparation of a large and valuable work of Histories and Genealogies now nearly completed.

Armorial Bookplates.

At the suggestion of several gentlemen, who have most kindly placed their collections at my disposal, I intend to issue a second series of photographic facsimiles of Armorial Bookplates.

These plates will be selected not only for their variety, but also for their design. The plates used by the literati of the present and past centuries, although some may be poor in design, e.g. the Bookplate of Gibbon the historian, will also find a place in the series.

The work will be issued in monthly parts, the first part being ready for distribution on the 16th December, 1891.

The price per part will be 1/–, and 2d. for postage, and will contain 12 plates. Subscribers paying 12/- in advance for the year will receive the first 12 parts, containing 144 plates, post free. This work can only be obtained direct from

The whole of the Baptisms recorded in the First Book of the Maxey Registers have been here given. Deducting one manifest repetition, there are 1796 entries; 948 males, 843 females, and 5 without name or sex. Taking the complete decennial periods, 1561 to 1710, 150 years, there are 1679 entries, giving an average of 112 every ten years. One baptism, in 1642, having taken place in another parish, is not reckoned in this computation. In 4 cases there are errors, either in spelling the name or in entering the sex, John, Francis, Phillip, and Jonah being each once entered as daughters, and are reckoned as such above.

WILLOUGHBY.

Possibly the following, in connection with the Queries at p. 352, may be interesting:

In the parish church of St. Thomas, Portsmouth, Hants, is a mural monument having a large shield with these arms, Or, fretty azure. Crest, A lion's head erased or, between two eagles' wings gules, fretty of the first. The inscription states that it is in memory of William Willoughby, Esquire, Colonel of a regiment belonging to the Tower Hamlets of London, and a Commissioner of the Navy, who died 30 March 1651. The inscription says nothing of his being married or having any issue, nor of his being "of the British Navy."

Genealogical Notes and Queries.

BERNARD.

Can any French genealogist state where and when took place the marriage of Daniel Bernard to a Miss Violet of Paris ? These Bernards were from Dijon, and Huguenots. This marriage took place about the time of the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, 1685, perhaps in Paris.

HANNAM—HAMMOND.

In the body of St. Margaret Pattens, London, there is a flat stone to Willoughby Hannam and his sister Frances, 1683-4. A copy of the inscription is desired. Captain Willoughby Hannam commanded a ship under the Parliamentary Government. The names of Hannam or Hammond seem to have been used for the same person in old English writings. Was he a Hammond ? If so, was he a son of Colonel Mainwaring Hammond ? Was his mother's name Jane ? If so, what was her family name? Did he have a brother Laurence? Did he belong to the family of Rev. Henry Hammond of Penshurst, co. Kent?

What is known concerning this family? Were Mainwaring or Lawrence Hammond members of it? Lawrence Hammond's mother, Mrs. Jane Hammond, was a sister of Mrs. Elizabeth Willoughby, wife of Colonel William Willoughby, Commissioner of the British Navy, when he died in 1651. It is desired to learn her family name by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Elbridge, Salisbury, New Haven, Connecticut, U.S.A.

MYLNGATE.

The very full memoranda of the family of Radcliffe in No. 23, pp. 362-5, induce me to make an enquiry respecting William Mylngate of Manchester, whose daughter Isabel married Robert Baynbrigge of Lockington in Leicestershire, who died in 1572. In Lockington Church there is or was in a window a coat of arms of Baynbrigge, impaling, Argent, two bends engrailed sable. Now these are the arms of Radcliffe; but there is no alliance with Radcliffe in the Baynbrigge pedigree, and this coat of arms seems to belong to Robert Baynbrigge, who married Isabel Mylngate, as he was the first of the family at Lockington, and there is no other to whom the arms could belong. But how could the Radcliffe arms come here? Among the entries of baptisms given in the list above mentioned is this: "1627, Josephe sonne of Robarte Radcliffe of y^e^ Mylngate, Maye 7." Here is a Radcliffe of the Mylngate. May it not be that one of the family may have previously lived in the Mylngate, and took the name of Mylngate, but keeping the arms of Radcliffe?

My query is then—Is anything known of William Mylngate of Manchester, or of his family, and if he were connected with the Radcliffes?

WINCHESTER CATHEDRAL.

On the door of the entrance into Bishop Thomas Langton's Chantry, on the south of the Lady Chapel in the Cathedral, is carved on a shield, encircled with the motto of the Order of the Garter: Arms—Three lions passant-guardant in pale, within a bordure charged with ten crosses pattée fitchée (the bordure carried all round); impaling, On a cross quarterly five roses, for Langton.

The query is, Whose are the arms the Bishop had impaled with his?

On the vaulting of the Chantry the arms are in colours, Argent, three lions gules (?—colour gone), within a bordure azure charged with crosses pattée fitchée argent. The Bishop's arms on another shield, Or, on a cross quarterly azure and gules five roses argent. The arms of the See of Winchester, which ought to have been carved on the door, viz., Gules, two keys indorsed in bend sinister, the uppermost argent, the other or, a sword interposed between them in bend dexter of the second, pommel and hilt gold. These arms are impaled with the Bishop's in the Chantry.

There is also another shield, not known—Sable (?), on a bridge of three arches a demi-eagle displayed or, within a bordure gules.

Thomas Langton was Bishop of St. David's, 1483; Salisbury, 1485; Winchester, 1493; was elected to the See of Canterbury, but died of the plague immediately after his election, and was interred in the Chantry 1501.

On the vaulting there are sixteen examples of the rebus, all with a tun; one repeated several times with a cockatrice on a tun seeks explanation. Thomas Hunton was Prior at the time.
